IDMC-13

The 13th International
Myotonic Dystrophy
Consortium Meeting

WELCOME TO OSAKA AND THE 13TH INTERNATIONAL MYOTONIC DYSTROPHY CONSORTIUM MEETING!

The International Myotonic Dystrophy Consortium, or 'IDMC,' represents a meeting place of the international myotonic dystrophy research community. It is made up of scientists, physicians, and health care professionals whose common aim is to help those afflicted with the disease, whether through improved patient care, focused clinical and scientific research, or development of meaningful treatments that one day may turn the tide against the course of this disease.

COVID-19 has been impacting globally, and IDMC has been postponed for one year from 2021. We were hoping for containment of the pandemic, but unfortunately, it is uncertain whether immigration and quarantine will be normalized in June this year. While we want to stick to the IDMC tradition of bringing together many stakeholders, we do not want to delay research and therapeutic development with further postponements. Therefore, we decided to hold the IDMC-13 in a hybrid style with on-demand delivery.

We are looking forward to a scientifically interesting and important meeting with leading scientists in the field of Myotonic Dystrophy from all around the world.

*Masanori P. Takahashi, MD, PhD,
Osaka University Graduate School of Medicine.*
